

March 16th, 2020

To our beloved SPOT community,

Our mission has always been to serve the Wood River Valley by offering a safe space to come together and experience the power and magic of theater. During this global health crisis (COVID-19) the SAFEST thing we can do is to all stay home.

While the impact of going dark at The Spot for the rest of this season will be very challenging for our small organization, the decision was unanimous and gives us all the best chance we've got at flattening the curve.

We will be postponing our final production of the season, STUPID F*CKING BIRD by Aaron Posner and rescheduling our Artist in Residence collaboration with creator and activist Julia Bray, MATTER IS MOTHER. New dates will be released with our 20/21 season announcement in July.

For us at The Spot, every single ticket matters and closing our doors for this indeterminable amount of time means our artists, designers and organization itself will be at risk. Please consider supporting us and other event organizations, bookshops and arts non-profits in the valley as we navigate the unknowable. Our tickets are priced at $30, or $13 for those under 30, and a donation to our organization in even that amount could make the difference in our ability to afford rent and basic operational costs until things stabilize.

The theater is resilient. It has survived plague before: in Shakespeare's time and in more recent memory, the 1980s. It has survived through love, empathy and the unwavering need to be reminded of our interconnectedness and common humanity. Our ghost light will shine on from Lewis Street commemorating the work that has been done, that will be done, the artists and the hearts.

During this time of NECESSARY social distancing, please continue to visit us online at spotsunvalley.com to stay informed as this is an ever-changing situation. Stay entertained by connecting with us on social media: Instagram @spot_sv, Facebook @thespotsunvalley. We will be creating streamable content and sharing exciting updates over the next few weeks. We look forward to reopening our doors for the 20/21 season and want to see you all there. So please wash your hands, call your loved ones, #STAYHOME and stay healthy. #NOQUIT

the spot cr3w
